THE JAM TRADE.

Gladstone's Wisdom In Advising the Farmers to Cultivate Fruit.

A few years ago, when Mr. Gladstone, in one of his charming books of essays from early days, wrote of the evils from early days, the results of overwork, sickness, worry, poverty, and the like, he gave to every crass and portion of the body. Simple, natural, and inexpensive improvement.

Failure impossible. 2,000 references. Book, explanation and proofs mailed (sealed) free.

LOOK OUT FOR BREAKERS AHEAD

when pimplies, eruptions, boils, and like manifestations of impure blood appear.

If your blood were pure and about in the right condition, they would show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you want. When you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from the common Scrofula, and others, every kind of disease, it invigorates the Liver and kidneys, every organ into healthy action. Is the most popular form of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-creases, Rosemary, Erysipelas, Boils and Ulcers, aliments, and with Scrofula, in every shape, and all blood-taints, no matter from what cause arising, it is an unequalled remedy.

"JAM has a great future before it. The people are using it more and more largely every year, and, in my opinion, they are doing wisely, for what could be cheaper and at the same time healthier than a good jam made from sound English fruit?

"I attribute the superiority of English fruit to the nature of the soil and to the fact that the fruit ripens more gradually in our climate than in countries where there is more continuous and powerful sunshine. The slower the ripening process the better is the flavor of the fruit.

"You may not perhaps be aware that strawberries grown in the northern parts of Scotland are vastly superior in all respects to those grown in southern England, without doubt because they take longer to mature. Australian jams are being packed largely in India and elsewhere and may very probably come over here before long to compete with our home produce.

"In Ireland there is a magnificent future for the fruit growing industry if only its opportunities were turned to account. Even now most of the blackberries that come to the English markets are grown in Ireland. But there are enormous possibilities there of which no one has yet taken advantage. Properly worked, its fruit trade might yet do much to insure Ireland's commercial prosperity."—Westminster Gazette.

THE JAM TRADE.

Gladstone's Wisdom In Advising the Farmers to Cultivate the Jam.

A few years ago, when Mr. Gladstone, in one of his charming discourses at Hawarden, recommended the British farmer to turn his attention to fruit cultivation and the making of jam, his advice was received with a good deal of cheap and ignorant ridicule. As usual, the ex-premier has proved a good deal wiser than his critics, and those who gave ear to his counsel in this instance have had no reason to regret their confidence. In an interview a famous provider says:

"The motive that induced me to take up the jam trade was my knowledge of the fact that within late years the demand for preserves had been steadily increasing, while that for butter has, no doubt in consequence, shown a tendency rather to decline than otherwise. Catering as I do for some 300,000 daily customers, I have naturally good opportunity of knowing what the public want in the matter of provisions."

"Jam has a great future before it. The people are using it more and more largely every year, and, in my opinion, they are doing wisely, for what could be cheaper and at the same time healthier than a good jam made from sound English fruit?"

"I attribute the superiority of English fruit to the nature of the soil and to the fact that the fruit ripens more gradually in our climate than in countries where there is more continuous and powerful sunshine. The slower the ripening process the better is the flavor of the fruit."

"You may not perhaps be aware that strawberries grown in the northern parts of Scotland are vastly superior in all respects to those grown in southern England, without doubt because they take longer to mature. Australian jams are being pushed largely in India and elsewhere and may very probably come over here before long to compete with our home produce."

"In Ireland there is a magnificent future for the fruit growing industry if only its opportunities were turned to account. Even now most of the blackberries that come to the English markets are grown in Ireland. But there are enormous possibilities there of which no one has yet taken advantage. Properly worked, its fruit trade might yet do much to insure Ireland's commercial prosperity." —Westminster Gazette.

SUN AND MOON.

A Couple of Interesting Folklore Stories Concerning Those Luminaries.

The most touching of all folklore stories may be found in Charles F. Lummis' "Pueblo Folklore." It is one of the many myths of the moon and sun fully conceived. The sun is the Allmother, the moon the Allmother, and both shine with equal light in the heavens. But the Twins, the superior divinities, find that man, the animals, the flowers, weary of a constant day. They agree to put out the Allfather's, or sun's, eyes. The Allmother—the moon—offers her as a sacrifice. "Blind me," she says, "and leave my husband's eyes." The Twins say, "It is good, woman."

They accept the sacrifice and take away one of the Allmother's eyes. Hence the moon is less brilliant than the sun. The man finds rest at night, and the flowers are less brilliant than the sun.

The man finds rest at night, and the flowers are less brilliant than the sun.

In Mrs. Leiber Cohen's translation of Sacher Masoch's "Jewish Tales" there is a variant of the sun and moon story derived from the Talmud. Briefly told, the sun and moon are equally luminous; it is the moon who wants to be more brilliant than the sun. Deity is angered by the moon's pride. Her light is lessened. "The moon grew pale. Then God pitied her and gave her the stars for companions."

ANIMALS RESPECT ONE ANOTHER'S RIGHTS.

Truth forces the observer of nature to admit that birds and other creatures apportion the earth among themselves just about as man does. A bear has his boundaries beyond which his fellow bear does not trespass with impunity—the wild rabbit you see on your lawn in the moonlight is the same innocent little creature you have been seeing every night all the summer time—and even the robin that gathers the early worm for his breakfast from your garden will show fight when another comes intruding on his preserve. Nor does this last a year only, for there is good evidence that the same bird will come back to the same spot after the year previous.—Moehring's Monthly.

Then God pitied her and gave her the stars for companions."

In Mrs. Leiber Cohen's translation of Sacher Masoch's "Jewish Tales" there is a variant of the sun and moon story derived from the Talmud. Briefly told, the sun and moon are equally luminous; it is the moon who wants to be more brilliant than the sun. Deity is angered by the moon's pride. Her light is lessened. "The moon grew pale. Then God pitied her and gave her the stars for companions."

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature of the State of Nevada has been in session according to official report eighteen days, but in fact only fourteen days. The limit allowed by the Constitution for a legislative session is sixty days. This includes, as does the official report, Sundays and days over which the Legislature adjourns without transacting any business. In the eighteen days in which it has been officially in session a Legislative Fund bill, resolutions relating to the Reilly Funding bill, the Nicaragua Canal and Hawaiian Islands, and commendatory of the course of Senator Jones in severing his connection with the Republican wing of the Wall Street brigade, have been adopted, two contested election cases have been disposed of and a number of bills of more or less importance to the people introduced and referred to appropriate committees.

As compared with former Legislatures in this State the work, so far, has been performed expeditiously. The Legislative Fund bill is one-half less than at many former sessions, but the people expect more from this session than when the old parties were in power and the members should not disappoint their constituents in that respect.

Many, if not all, of those composing the present Legislature are business men and tax payers. It is safe to say that not one of them pays those in their employ for services which they do not perform. Times are unprecedently dull and taxes higher than people like to have them. Why, then, should the Legislature adjourn over two days each week and charge the State for services not rendered? The answer that it has been the custom since the State was organized will not satisfy the public who believe "the custom won't be more honored in the breach than in the observance." The few thousand taxpayers cannot afford to pay a Legislative body for frittering away its time. Neither can they afford to waste the time of the session in listening to a few men whose principal object seems to be to make political capital and hear themselves talk. There are a number of appropriations to be acted upon and they should receive immediate attention and not be put off to the last day of the session. No doubt a bill to cover the expenses incurred at the Midwinter Fair will be introduced before the close of the session. Why not dispose of that matter now? Several bills, such as that authorizing the issuance of bonds for school purposes in Reno, can be disposed of now as well as later. Such bills concern only localities and are referred to the delegations from the counties immediately concerned. Saturday, which the members seem to consider as sacred as the Sabbath, might be devoted to such measures if there is nothing else to do on those days.

Sensible people do not expect the Legislature to accomplish much for the benefit of the State for the reason that no laws that it can enact will relieve the depression and distress that exists, but sensible people do expect the members to transact what legislation may be necessary as expeditiously as possible and adjourn.

PEACE AT HONOLULU.

Reports from the Hawaiian Islands are to the effect that the Republic is now established on a firm basis. Liliuokalani has sent an address to President Dole in which she states it to be her understanding of her duty to the people of Hawaii and to their highest and best interests to fully and unequivocally admit and declare that the government of the Republic of Hawaii is the only lawful government of the Hawaiian Islands, and that the late Hawaiian monarchy is finally and forever ended and no longer of any legal or actual validity, force or effect whatsoever, and absolving all persons whomsoever, from all and every manner of allegiance, or official obligation or duty to herself and her heirs forever. Though the ex-Queen was under arrest when she issued the manifesto, she admits that it was of her own free will.

Several of the leaders in the late conspiracy to overthrow the Republic are being tried by military commission, and may be condemned and executed for treason. Rudolph Spreckles, a son of Claus Spreckles, the San Francisco sugar king, has been arrested on a charge of being one of the conspirators and there is a probability of his being executed for treason.

The ex-Queen's address, the complete collapse of the insurrection and the arrest and probable punishment of the plotters against the established government, has demonstrated the ability of President Dole to maintain the supremacy of the Republic without assistance from the United States. If our Government will now protect the Islands from foreign interference, the Republic of Hawaii will exist until the United States may deem it advantageous to annex the islands and make them a part of the Great Republic.

A FRIENDLY EXCUSE.

County Clerk Curry of San Francisco, in whose interest the returns from many precincts were "doctored," has been severely criticised for employing more clerks and expending more money than ever before. He points out that he has been doing more work from year to year.

to do the work than it does of old employees, who understand the routine of the office. This can scarcely be considered a valid excuse, as there is no law to compel him to add thousands of dollars to the expense of the office by turning out all the old employees. If Mr. Curry's excuse is a valid one he should not have permitted his name to go on a ticket for election, as it was not in the interest of the taxpayers to have him elected.

FAIR'S WILL.

The Heirs Have Decided to Contest It.
SAN FRANCISCO, February 7.—The children of the late James G. Fair have decided to contest their father's will. One of the attorneys for the daughters, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Miss Virginia Fair, made a statement in court to-day that the probate of the will would be opposed and the Court allowed a continuance of two weeks to inaugurate the contest. Fair's daughters and his son Charles L. Fair are acting in concert in the matter. The fight over the Fair millions promised to be long and bitter. All of the leading law firms of the city are being drawn into the contest on one side or the other, Governor Budd being one of Charles Fair's special counsel. The executors specially desired to secure the probating of the will before a contest, so that they could make a fight out of the funds of the estate, instead of personally advancing the costs of the battle.

THE RAILROAD ENGINEERS.

Their Differences With the Railroad Adjusted.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 7.—Appears indicate that the threatened trouble between the Southern Pacific Company and the Locomotive Engineers has been averted. A conference was held to-day between Superintendent Fillmore, Chief Arthur and some of the engineers. It was marked by a friendly feeling and at its conclusion Fillmore said the difficulty had been practically settled.

The adjustment of wages will affect a uniform remuneration, but will cut down those who have been making large salaries to give all a fair compensation.

THE NEGRO EXODUS

The First Installment Arrive in Mexico.
MEXICO, Mexico, February 7.—The first installment of 200 families of negroes from Georgia, who were to colonize a vast tract of land fifteen miles from here, have reached this place. The negroes are in good health and will please with their surroundings. They will be taken to the land where they are to settle to-day. Native Mexicans are much opposed to the advent of the negroes into this section. The land which the colonists are to occupy is entirely barren at present, but is susceptible of irrigation.

BROOKLYN'S MAYOR.

He Votes the Revocation of a Franchise.
BROOKLYN, February 7.—Mayor Schermer has vetoed the resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen on Monday, revoking the trolley franchise of the Brooklyn City and Atlantic avenue street railroad.

Snow Blockade in Nebraska

OMAHA, February 7.—Drifted snow and sand and the intense cold greatly interfered with the movement of trains in Nebraska last night and to-day. Two through train from Billings, Montana, on the Burlington, due at 11:45 last night, has not yet arrived. There has been no trains since yesterday morning on the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley road from the Black Hills. All trains on the Union Pacific are delayed and many engines have been "killed" by freezing.

Pullman Evades a Summons.

CHICAGO, February 7.—Judge Crosscup is investigating the charge that George M. Pullman evaded the service of a subpoena in the Debs conspiracy case. W. R. Johnson, the colored doorkeeper at Pullman's office, testified this morning that when the Deputy United States Marshal called at the office and wrote his name and official title on the card, Pullman was in the office but sent out word that he was not in.

The Currency Bill Killed.

WASHINGTON, February 7.—The unofficial yea and nay vote in the House defeats the Administration financial bill—132 to 180.

ALFALFA.

An Agricultural Paper Says Much in Its Favor.

"Alfalfa is a curious grass, but a paying one," says a farmer. "It is better than a bank account, for it never fails, or goes into the hands of a receiver. It is weather-proof, for the cold does not injure and the heat makes it grow all the better. A winter flood will not drown it and a fire will not kill it. It loves water and bores to reach it. As a bore it is equal to an artesian well. When growing there is no stopping it. Begin cutting a twenty-acre field, and when your last load of hay is baled at one end of the field the grass is ready to be cut at the other end of it. For filling a milk can an alfalfa-fed cow is equal to a hand pump. Cattle love it, hogs fattened upon it and a hungry horse will want nothing else. Bess will leave all other bloom for alfalfa. If your land will grow alfalfa you will have the drop on dry weather. Once started on your land, alfalfa will stay by you like Canada thistles or a first class mortgage, but only to make you wealthier will it stay. Expenses of the land, manure, fence, cultivation and labor dry and fancy goods at proportionately low figures. News to come to get alfalfa."

INCREASING SALARIES.

What One of Our Representatives Says on the Subject.

CARSON, February 7, 1895.
EDITOR.—In your issue of this date I notice under the head of "Washoe County Delegation," in which your correspondent seems to favor an increase of the salaries of certain Washoe county officers, and also says the Washoe Delegation is considering the expediency of such an increase. It may not be out of order for me to say that the Washoe Delegation does not take kindly to any proposed increase and as far as I am aware will not favor any such legislation. My own recollection is that previous to the last election all creeds and conditions of men and especially the tax payers of our county, were agreed that economy should be practiced in all departments of State and county government, indeed the candidates for legislative positions were especially instructed to work in that direction. Another fact can be mentioned in this connection, thusly: During the last campaign there was a struggle for all the offices in our county. Much time and money was spent by many good men who wanted the offices, presumably at the salaries provided by law. I do not believe in the practice of increasing the salary of any officer. The fact that salaries are lower in Washoe county than in some others to my mind is commendable, rather than a disgrace.

If our county officers are not satisfied with four or five dollars a day for every working day in the year let me call their attention to the condition of the taxpayers who toil, many of them for twelve or sixteen hours a day, for a sum of less than six bits a day. In my opinion the man who pays the taxes should be recognized as a pretty good fellow himself.

By the way, Mr. Editor, I am thinking of introducing a bill providing that all taxpayers shall be allowed for their hard labor, and in consideration of the money they pay so that the tax eaters may fare sumptuously every day, at least one dollar a day. Briefly stated it is not simply a question of how much our officials should have, but rather how much can our tax payers afford to pay. In conclusion I will simply say that in about a month you will have in your midst a statesman out of a job and that if any of our county officers think they can't afford to serve at present pay, I will fit! any one of the positions myself at a price twenty per cent less than it now costs.

H. H. BECK.
THE VAUGHN MURDER CASE.
It is Being Argued on Appeal in the Supreme Court

About a year and a half ago Alfred Vaughn shot and killed Willie and John Lister of Boone Canyon, Lander county. He was tried at Austin, found guilty of, and sentenced to be executed for the murder of Willie Lister. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court and came up for argument yesterday. James F. Dennis, counsel for the defendant, made the opening argument, followed by District Attorney Jones of Lander for the State.

The defendant has not yet been tried on indictment for the murder of John Litster, and of course will not be unless he is granted a new trial and acquitted of the crime for which he is now under sentence.

No More Passengers on the "Swing" Train.

An order was issued from railroad headquarters yesterday to stop carrying passengers on the "swing" train. That train leaves Reno every morning and goes west to Truckee, stopping at way stations. As no passenger train goes west in the morning it was a great convenience for people who desired to visit Verdi, Truckee or other points along the road to ride up on the "swing" as it gave them time to transact business and return on the east-bound express which is due here at 8:35 P. M.

A Lively Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon Geo. Ulyatt's two-horse team started from the upper end of town and came down Commercial Row at a 150 gait. The wheels of the wagon only struck the ground at long intervals. The team turned into Virginia street, where the wagon came in contact with a telegraph pole, smashing a wheel into kindling wood, the force of the collision swinging the team across the street and headed for the doors of the Nevada Bank building.

The sidewalks were suddenly cleared of pedestrians for a half block, but the team was caught and held and the excitement checked. No one was hurt and the damage to the wagon was limited to the broken wheel.

INCIDENTALS.

Beck's Woman Suffrage bill comes before the Assembly on Monday next at 2 P. M. If Beck never made a speech before in his life he will do so on that occasion. He will find able supporters and many ladies attendant upon the discussion of the great question. The ladies take great interest in all prominent propositions that come before the Legislature and manifest it by being present in goodly numbers.

None of the legislators own up to having been at the great glove contest night before last.

Speaking of that as before remarked, neither of the contestants was very badly punished in that fight. The colored boy, Brown, got off with a swollen upper lip and a big lump on his forehead. The white boy, Boals, shows a slight abrasion on the right cheek, a swollen and crippled left hand and thinks one of his ribs is broken.

"Darn that moke," says he, "the son-of-a-bitch hits like the kids of a Wisconsin mule."

Boals is still in the hospital after the fight.

The Everyday Man.

A Horn Curiosity.
Our old school textbook told us that "all horns are not bones," and this is certainly true as far as the horn of the rhinoceros is concerned. That curious protuberance is nothing less than a collection or amalgamation of hairs, so interwoven and agglutinated that under the microscope it appears to be of composition similar to the pith of a corn-stalk, except that the hairs are not so widely separated by the material that binds them together.

In olden times royalty employed rhinoceros horns for drinking cups, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling. There may have been grain of truth in this, for it is known that the ancient poisons were all acids, and these would certainly decompose the horny structure of the cup very rapidly.—St. Louis Republic.

"What's the matter?"

"Well, pipe says that my husband must be a keen and experienced man, of good health and good habits. Mamma says he must be frugal, industrious, attentive and moral, and I say that he must be handsome, dashing, talented and rich. We are still looking for him."—London Tit-Bits.

Equal to the Occasion.
A Yorkshire farmer, having a horse to sell at a fair, sold it to an army contractor. Meeting him at the same fair the following year, the army buyer walked up to the farmer and said indignantly: "The horse I bought of you was a thorough fraud. It was no use for the army." The dealer was nowise abashed, but said, "Well, try 'im for t' navy!"—Philadelphia Record.

Out and Not Out.
"Doggie! Did you see Sponge this morning?" He said he was going to call him in to effect a loan.
"No; I was out when he called, therefore I am not out now."—New York Tribune.

Eloquence Interrupted.
During a political campaign, a well known lawyer in a western state was addressing an audience composed principally of farmers. Like a wise speaker—and a shrewd candidate—he tried to suit his speech to the occasion.

In a speech which he evidently considered both cordial and honest, and with a winning smile, he began: "My friends, my sympathies have always been with the tillers of the soil. My father was a practical farmer, and so was my grandfather before him. I myself was born on a farm and was, so to speak, reared between two stalks of corn."

Here his eloquence was rudely interrupted by the trumpet tones of a farmer in the rear of the hall.

"Jimmy critters!" he shouted, "if you ain't a pumpkin!"

The house "came down," and the candidate, for the moment, at least, was sadly embarrassed.—Youth's Companion.

Robinstein's Charity.

Robinstein had probably traveled more than other any virtuous. In his time he made many fortunes and gave them away to the poor in Russia. During the famine which raged among the Russian peasants a few years ago he journeyed to Vienna, Moscow and St. Petersburg to play for charity. The price of seats rose to unheard of figures, but every penny of the money went to the starving famers. It is said that in the course of 25 years the sum which he thus disposed of amounted to $350,000.

How It Happened.

"I've turned highwayman," said the sofa.

"What?" exclaimed the chair.

"Yes; I held a couple up last night."

—New Rochelle Life.

An Original.

Little Mary—There are lots of little Marys nowadays, but none other at all like this one. She is original in her persons, as in everything else. The other night she flushed off her petition thus:

"And, O Lord, make all the wicked people good and wash all the niggers white!"—New York Tribune.

The unravelling of an Egyptian mummy supposed to be that of a princess, disclosed a curious cheat. The priests who did the embalming probably spoiled or mislaid the body intrusted to them and for it substituted that of an ordinary negro man.

A gentleman of the court of Pepin had a wonderful pair of breeches that cost $700. They were embroidered with gold, and all the figures were traced with chains of small pearls.
